

Intermediate Macroeconomics

Spring 2013 (16480) Econ 4020 090 (Online, QI)

December 2012. This is an online course, which does not meet in-class. For additional information, please write to me, visit http://www.econ.utah.edu/new\_online.xhtml and <http://uonline.utah.edu>.

Instructor – Necati Celik (necati.celik@economics.utah.edu). Office: Orson Spencer Hall (OSH) Cubicle 7. Office hours: You can email me 24h in advance and we can arrange a suitable time.

Course description

From the catalog – Prerequisite: ECON 2010 and 2020 and College Algebra (or 1010 and instructor's consent). Fulfills Quantitative Intensive BS. Macroeconomic theories, models, and analysis focused on national income determination, unemployment, inflation, and public policy.

Further information – Intermediate macroeconomics introduces you to (1) a few standard models of the macroeconomy and (2) the resulting policy recommendations and controversies. During the first part of the semester, we will focus on the short and medium run (IS/LM and AS-AD model), followed in the second part by the long run (growth model) and a closer look at issues related to open economies.

Learning objectives -- At the end of the course, the student will be able to use standard macroeconomic models to delineate ongoing policy controversies and to discuss current economic events; will be prepared for more advanced (macro)economics courses; will have learned to reason analytically within the framework of economic models.

Teaching and learning methods* – This is an online class. All requirements can be fulfilled online; we will use Canvas; see <https://uonline.utah.edu/canvas>. Multiple choice, essay and discussion assignments facilitate learning. Midterm and final exam are completed online. Interaction between students and with the instructor will be fostered, in order to create a dynamic learning experience. See http://www.econ.utah.edu/new\_online.xhtml for more information.

Textbook – Macroeconomics, 6th ed., by Olivier Blanchard, Prentice Hall, ISBN 978-0133061635. You can use other editions of this textbook, at your own risk. All other materials will be posted on Canvas.

Requirements*– It is your responsibility to follow emails and announcements sent through Canvas, and to stay up to date with readings (textbook chapters, discussions, assigned articles, etc). Short assignments for each chapter (multiple choice, brief essay) make up 1/3 of your final grade. Discussion participation, data assignments, group assignments, etc., add another 1/3; with two exams (midterm, final) adding the remainder: Active, regular participation in all these areas is crucial for success in the course! The final grade will be curved such that roughly 25% of the class receive an A.

Disclaimers

ADA – The University of Utah seeks to provide equal access to its programs, services and activities for people with disabilities. If you will need accommodations in the class, reasonable prior notice needs to be given to the Center for Disability Services, 162 Union Building, 581-5020 (V/TDD). CDS will work with you and the instructor to make arrangements for accommodations.

Rights and responsibilities – All students are expected to maintain professional behavior in the classroom setting, according to the Student Code, spelled out in the Student Handbook. (See <http://www.sa.utah.edu/regist/handbook/StudentHandbook.htm>.) Students have specific rights in the classroom as detailed in Article III of the Code. The Code also specifies proscribed conduct (Article XI) that involves cheating on tests, plagiarism, and/or collusion, as well as fraud, theft, etc. Students should read the Code carefully and know they are responsible for the content. According to Faculty Rules and Regulations, it is the faculty responsibility to enforce responsible classroom behaviors, beginning with verbal warnings and progressing to dismissal from class and a failing grade. Students have the right to appeal such action to the Student Behavior Committee.